BIO

Recent bachelor's degree recipient in Graphic Design with a background in responsive HTML email design and UI implementations for internal clients. Experience with web development fundamentals, including JavaScript, introduction to React and working on projects utilising APIs and SQL to streamline internal processes. Seeking to become a Front-End Developer and building on commercial experience in front-end frameworks.

PROJECTS

o API Integrated Product Page Independent

Worked independently to produce a page for staff to be able to use a search feature which utilises a SQL query to return a list of products matching the input. The table displayed is generated by using asynchronous JavaScript to get the list of products using the company's API and then inserting HTML into the page to display the data.

o JavaScript Snake Game Independent

Worked independently to produce a page for staff to be able to use a search feature which utilises a SQL query to return a list of products matching the input. The table displayed is generated by using asynchronous JavaScript to get the list of products using the company's API and then inserting HTML into the page to display the data as a table which is split into separate pages.

o Graphic Design Portfolio Independent

Built a responsive portfolio website to showcase my graphic design work with a CV page, which requires password authentication for recruiters/potential employers to see, as a way to applying and testing the web development knowledge I have gained so far.
